Incident

Between March 4th and April 4th 2025, the Russian Doppelganger influence operation published at least 297 tweets, targeting the Polish elections. The operation mirrored the regular sharing patterns of Doppelganger but instead supported their narratives by linking to articles in Polish press. The operation used 279 accounts to post 278 tweets. The tweets included a text, promoting the operations narratives, and a link to Polish media supporting their narratives.

The Russian influence operation has previously been reported on by numerous actors. The Social Design Agency, the actor behind Doppelganger, is sanctioned by the EU, making it illegal for X to host their content.

Narrative - separate with ;

Meta narrative: Anti-Eu, Anti-Ukraine, Anti-Establishment, Socioeconomic, Pro-Pis, Anti-US Sentiment, Pro-Russian Trade.

Sub-narratives: EU Overreach and Poxxit Push, Anti-Sanctions Economy, Establishment and Tusk Criticism, Anti-Ukraine Support Sentiment, Public Services and Migration Woes

Impact -

Reach: 1,290,672 authentic views (removing bots sharing the tweets); Between 130 to 4856 likes (API vs manual verification).

Outcome: Impact is contained at the moment but there is a risk that the operation is picked up by domestic actors, leading to widespread distribution of their operation narratives.

Key Objectives and Behaviours (DISARM Red Framework)

Objective 1: Divide – Polarising narratives exploit divisive issues to inflame tensions and weaken social cohesion.

Objective 2: Degrade Adversaries – propagating negative portrayals of Donald Tusk, key EU figures and members of the Polish government aiming to delegitimise their authority and reduce public trust in their leadership.

T0084.004: Appropriate Content – The operation legitimises their narratives by linking to Polish media.

T0116.001: Post Inauthentic Social Media Comment – The content of the operation is amplified by commenting it onto authentic users posts.

T0128.002: Conceal Network Identity – The accounts hide their affiliations.

T0143.002: Fabricated Persona + T0097.101: Local Persona - The accounts portray themselves as Polish citizens.

Recommendations and Actions Taken

Action taken: Reported tweets to X through their DSA-mandated reporting tool. X replied that the post were not violating any laws; shared report to Polish government entities and media.

Recommendations: Media and educational actors should inform the Polish public about how these operations work.
