Title	EU	X Geofence Breaking– Sanctioned RT Promoting Polish Presidential Candidate	07/05/2025

Summary

- On May 6th, two posts from the sanctioned Russian state-controlled media X channel @RT_com containing two videos showing Grzegorz Braun destroying an EU flag were visible to EU audiences despite sanctions. On May 7th, we can confirm that the content from @RT_com was accessible to EU audiences, likely due to an error in X's geofencing system.
- The two posts promote Braun.
- The two tweets gained over 101k views and 2.2k interactions, potentially promoting Braun to European audiences.
- RT used a fabricated news outlet persona to promote Braun in this case
- X has been informed and is recommended to look over their geofencing system. .

Incident

On May 6th, the sanctioned Russian state-controlled media RT's X channel @RT_com published two posts, promoting a video of Grzegorz Braun stomping on and burning an EU flag. The first tweet was accessible in the EU instantly when clicking on their link (1), while the second became accessible after refreshing the page a few times (2).

On May 7th, 8 other tweets from the @RT_com channel were tested to see if the geofencing mechanism of X is working.

One of these tweets resolved instantly, showing the content of the tweets (3), while the rest of the sample needed to be refreshed a few times before they became visible (4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10). This issue makes it possible for users to access the sanctioned state-controlled media channel RT through direct links to content.

The same issue does not materialise when we try to open @RT_com's profile, only showing the expected "Account Withheld" text.
